PHOENIX AISES

*The Phoenix Professional
Chapter of the American Indian Science and Engineering Society
Established in 1999*

ADVANCING STEM LEADERSHIP IN INDIAN COUNTRY

Phoenix AISES supports the American Indian Science and Engineering Society (AISES) national organization's mission to substantially increase the representation of American Indians, Alaska Natives, Native Hawaiians, Pacific Islanders, First Nations and other indigenous peoples of North America in science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) studies and careers.

0.3% of the STEM workforce is American Indian

STEM infrastructure helps build a sustainable future for Indian Country by managing tribal resources, harnessing valuable energy resources, improving the healthcare and well-being of our tribal communities, and creating a professional workforce.

OUR VALUES

We are a professional organization of diverse and respected professionals in the Phoenix Metro area that value:

- Giving back to the Phoenix area and Arizona tribal communities through service.
- Building partnerships with small, medium and large businesses, tribes and governments, as well other non-profits that value diversity.
- Increasing participation and interest in technical and business careers in sciences, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM).
- Promoting member success.
- Supporting the National AISES organization

WELLNESS SERIES

Join us for hikes and enjoy the great Arizona backyard with AISES members. Have an idea for more ways to stay active? Follow us on Facebook to see when and where we are headed out next or contact the social chair.
